

VOLKERT / IER

Sara West runs Capital City Events, a startup corporate event planning firm.

Increased productivity has been an effective selling point for Capital City Events. "Executives are watching the bottom line. Outsourcing event planning makes financial sense because the burden of planning the event does not draw time and resources away from an already busy corporate staff."

Idaho Business Review
June 13 - 19, 2005